

control coccidiosis in cattle. The supplemental NADA modifies the feeding directions in the table in § 558.311(e)(1) by changing “feed continuously” to “hand feed”.
The supplemental NADA’s are approved as of August 7, 1995, and the regulations are amended in § 558.311 (21 CFR 558.311) to reflect the approvals.
Under 21 CFR 514.106(b)(2), these are Category II changes. Approval of these changes is not expected to have any adverse effect on the safety or effectiveness of this new animal drug. Accordingly, these approvals did not require a reevaluation of the safety and effectiveness data in the parent application.
Under section 512(c)(2)(F)(iii) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act

(21 U.S.C. 360b(c)(2)(F)(iii)), these approvals for food-producing animals do not qualify for marketing exclusivity because the supplemental applications do not contain new clinical or field investigations (other than bioequivalence or residue studies) and new human food safety studies (other than bioequivalence or residue studies) essential to the approvals and conducted or sponsored by the applicant.

Statements of licensing policy are added concerning the availability of specific licenses for public performances, educational exchanges, activities of human rights organizations, and the reciprocal establishment of news organization offices. Background
On October 6, 1995, President Clinton announced a number of changes to the administration of the Cuban embargo intended to promote democratic change in Cuba. Accordingly, the Office of Foreign Assets Control is amending the Cuban Assets Control Regulations, 31 CFR part 515 (the “Regulations”), to implement these measures.
Section 514.416 is amended to expand the interpretation of the term “research and similar activities” to include research conducted on behalf of an organization with an established interest in international relations. Individuals acting on behalf of such an organization may apply for a specific license to authorize travel-related transactions in Cuba. Section 515.417 is added to the Regulations to establish the basis on which specific licenses to authorize travel-related transactions will be granted to individuals engaging in free-lance journalism. Section 515.419 is added providing an interpretation of the term “educational activities.” Specific licenses will be available for individuals who are attending certain meetings of international organizations in Cuba. Undergraduates’ travel to Cuba for study toward a degree may be licensed if the activities are sponsored by a college or university.

Sections 515.527 and 515.528 are amended to authorize transactions including payments to the United States by Cuban nationals and payments to Cuba by U.S. companies and individuals related to the protection of intellectual property. A new general license is established at § 515.560(a)(1)(iii) to permit travel to Cuba once a year to visit close relatives in circumstances of extreme humanitarian need. Clarifying amendments are made to § 515.560(g) to make clear that “fully hosted or sponsored” travelers may not use the charter services authorized pursuant to § 515.566. Section 515.565 is amended to provide that specific licenses may be issued for public performances or public exhibitions in Cuba. A new § 515.572 is added to the Regulations which states that specific licenses may be issued on a case-by-case basis to permit the establishment of offices for news organizations in the United States by Cubans and in Cuba by U.S. persons.

A new § 515.573 is added to the Regulations authorizing educational exchanges for Cuban and U.S. scholars, as well as study in a Cuban academic institution by graduate and undergraduate students. Section 515.574 is added to the Regulations to allow for specific licensing of activities of human rights organizations and other non-governmental organizations to support the Cuban people.

In addition, certain technical amendments are included in this rule. The term “authorized trade territory” is redefined in § 515.322. Sections 515.413 and 515.561 are being removed from the Regulations. Section 515.413, concerning certain engineering advice, related to a general license that is no longer included in the Regulations; accordingly, § 515.413 is being removed as unnecessary. Section 515.561 was originally incorporated into the Regulations to authorize travel in support of transactions authorized under an earlier version of § 515.559. The continued authorization of travel transactions is inconsistent with the present limited scope of § 515.559. Finally § 515.563 is amended to clarify that remittances related to emigration from Cuba continue to be authorized under general license.

Because the Regulations involve a foreign affairs function, Executive Order 12866 and the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 553, requiring notice of proposed rulemaking, opportunity for public participation, and delay in effective date, are inapplicable. Because no notice of proposed rulemaking is required for this rule, the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601-612, does not apply.

Executive Order 12866

The Director, Administration and Management, Office of the Secretary of Defense has determined that this Privacy Act rule for the Department of Defense does not constitute 'significant regulatory action'. Analysis of the rule indicates that it does not have an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; does not create a serious inconsistency or otherwise interfere with an action taken or planned by another agency; does not materially alter the budgetary impact of entitlements, grants, user fees, or loan programs or the rights and obligations of recipients thereof; does not raise novel legal or policy issues arising out of legal mandates, the President's priorities, or the principles set forth in Executive Order 12866 (1993).

Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980
